Who we are

OceanWise is an independent limited company that develops and delivers a range of products and services for organisations who need to acquire, manage, use, and share marine and environmental data.

What personal data we collect

OceanWise gathers limited personal data (name, email address, job title, phone number) of customer, prospect, external provider and licensed partner contacts related to their capacity as an employee, member, associate, or other connection, of an organisation operating in sectors to which we provide products and services. We do not store or process any sensitive data.

How we collect this data

- During sales and contractual negotiations
- Webforms on our websites
- Meetings and events
- Information that is in the public domain.

How we use this data

OceanWise uses this data to fulfill our legal and contractual obligations and to market our products and services.

We process this data under the legal grounds of Contract, Legal Obligation and Legitimate Interests.

We will only send you occasional marketing communications containing relevant information about our company, products, services and events.

We will send these to you by email, telephone and post under the legal ground of our legitimate interests to develop our products/services and grow our business.

You have the right to opt out of these marketing communications at any time by emailing us at info@oceanwise.eu or using the email preferences and opt-out options in each email communication.

Generally, OceanWise does not rely on consent as a legal ground for processing your personal data.

Who we will share this data with and why

We do not share your personal data with third parties unless obliged to do so to fulfil our legal or contractual obligations.

If we are obliged to share your data we will always seek your permission to do so, before sharing it.

How we keep your information secure

We will always endeavor to keep your data safe and secure. We have been assured that the systems and processes that we use are GDPR compliant.

How to contact us

You can contact us at any time to request information on the data that we hold and how we use it, or to request that your details are removed from our database, or to receive a copy of our full privacy policy:
